What better time than St. Valentine's Day for a heart-to-heart talk? High school steadies Gwen McFarlane and Lex McDonald form their own special Valentine as they get together after school. Labor Probers to Study More Red China Trade

VICTORIA (CP) — The labor committee of the British Columbia legislature, charged with looking into the province's unemployment situation, is to consider increased trade with Red China as a solution to the problem. Committee chairman William Murray, Social Credit member for Prince Rupert, said Friday the committee has written to some 52 groups asking them to appear. The B.C. Federation of Labor appears before the committee Feb. 23 or March 3rd and the Fisheries Association of B. C. will send a delegation Feb. 24. Up to now the Red China proposal, made by Rae Eddie, CCF MLA for New Westminster, appears to be the most concrete suggestion on the committee's agenda. Tom Uphill, 84-year-old dean of the legislature and independent member for Fernie, has said he too feels that trade with Red China would do more than anything else to assist employment in B.C. Mr. Eddie's proposal includes the suggestion that the committee study the advisability of sending a Canadian delegation to Red China to study the possibility of granting full trade recognition to that country. Education Minister Peterson told the legislature Friday that B.C. has the most rapidly-growing school enrolment in all Canada and an educational program to match that responsibility. Speaking during the budget debate, the minister said that when the Social Credit government took over in 1952 there were 6,578 teachers and 133,112 public school children. As of September last year there were 10,856 teachers and 286,478 pupils. B.C. now has the highest proportion of men teachers of any province, the highest proportion of teachers with university degrees and the highest average salary—$3,644—for any province, he said. At the same time it had the lowest percentage of permit teachers and the smallest number of one-roomed schools. The House heard three other speakers before it adjourned until Monday. W. J. Asselstine, former Liberal minister of mines and now Social Credit member for far-north Atlin riding, declared that "as long as this government functions as it has done I will support it." Chided by Archie Gibbs (L—Oak Bay) Mr. Asselstine said: "Make no mistake about this—I am no pink Liberal." John Tisdalle (SC—Saanich) urged a government rehabilitation for pensioners so they could "live instead of becoming just 'live vegetables.'" He said school for occupational training should be available to pensioners and semi-retired pensioners for certain periods every week. At present the old age pensioners were a "forgotten people." Arthur Turner (CCF—Vancouver East) said the welfare of the province is being "sacrificed" for an all-out policy of debt reduction by the government, which had promised to free the province of direct debt by 1960. The budget debate will continue Monday when speakers will include Public Works Minister Chant and Archie Gibbs, one of the two Liberals in the 52-seat House.

Dulles to Undergo Cancer Treatment

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dulles has cancer and will continue on leave from his post while undergoing radiation therapy.

President Eisenhower, after visiting Dulles at Walter Reed Hospital, said he had "expressed the thoughts and prayers of all of us that the results of his operation and the further course of treatment will be successful."

"In order to allow time for this purpose the secretary continues on leave of absence."

The announcement came shortly after Eisenhower had spent 37 minutes at Dulles' bedside.

A medical report today said when Dulles was operated on Friday for hernia a small "nubular implant" was removed from the hernia and proved upon examination to be an "adenocarcinoma," a small cancer. The medical announcement also said that the fluid removed at the time the hernia was repaired was found under the microscope to contain "free cancer cells."

"No further surgery is contemplated," the announcement said. "In the immediate future radiation therapy will be used."

FUTURE UNCLEAR

The announcements left completely unclear whether Dulles will ever be able to return to his state department desk.

Meanwhile, it appeared that foreign policy direction would be in the hands of Undersecretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Eisenhower had agreed early in the week to Dulles' request for a leave of absence to undergo the hernia operation. At the same time, he approved Dulles' designation of Herter—or in his absence, Undersecretary C.

Crews Patch Broken Dike

WEST TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP)—A temporary dike holding swirling Wabash River floodwaters from this Western Indiana city broke early this morning, but workmen patched the break and kept most of the water from the city.

The dike was on Sugar Creek, a swollen tributary of the Wabash.

Officials, at first thinking it was useless to try to patch the dike, released crews to seal the area and see if all families had been evacuated.

BONNER TO CONFER WITH CRUMP ON FERRY ISSUE

OTTAWA (CP) — British Columbia Attorney-General Robert Bonner will confer here today with CPR President N. R. Crump on the company's announced plan to suspend its direct Vancouver - Victoria steamship service Feb. 25.

There were indications Friday night that Mr. Bonner feels the CPR will not proceed with suspension for the time being at least.

Mr. Bonner met with Prime Minister Diefenbaker for 15 minutes and planned to see three cabinet ministers from British Columbia today: Works Minister Green, Defence Minister Pearkes and Justice Minister Fulton.

Mr. Diefenbaker reiterated in the Commons Friday that the federal government has no legal responsibility in the matter. However, the whole question was being reviewed.

SOMMERS TO APPEAL CONVICTION MONDAY

STOVE KNOCKED OVER AT DANCE HALL

35 Injured as Blast Rips Through Crowd

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—An oil stove knocked over by two men during a fight burst into flames Friday night and sent fire racing through a crowded dance hall, injuring at least 35 panic-stricken people. Many were teen-agers. Some of the injured were in serious condition. A reporter who arrived at the west-end hall minutes after the blaze started said "there were people writhing in pain all over the ground."

Hospital officials said 18, all from the Kingston area, were retained in hospital. William Fleck, 20, was reported in critical condition. Officials said at least 17 others were treated and released. About 150 people, mostly teenagers, were in the one-story frame Circle Dance Hall when the fire erupted. Dancers were turned into human torches by the blazing oil.

Both Hotel Dieu and Kingston General Hospital reported they had received 25 emergency cases. A nursing supervisor at the general said most of the injured were being treated for second degree burns. Firemen managed to control the fire quickly and the damage was limited to the roof and interior walls of the building.

'Torch Like' Fire Cuts Into Building

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—Fire cut through an old apartment building "like an acetylene torch" early today, leaving 11 dead and one missing. Eight other persons were injured.

Among the victims were six members of the same family, including an expectant mother. She jumped from a window of the second floor, then died after giving birth to a stillborn son. The fire broke out at 1:01 a.m. and quickly cut off the only exit, a stairway at the front of the converted theatre.

JUMPED FROM WINDOWS. "Almost right away people began jumping out of the windows," said taxi driver Anthony Blackwell, who discovered the blaze.

Blackwell said he saw seven occupants standing at windows in the rear of the building but "they disappeared when a section of the ceiling apparently fell."

"That fire cut just like an acetylene torch," he said.

Coroner Russell Compton said the missing person was 14-year-old Jack Kirk, believed to have spent the night with his father. The father was among the victims.

Compton listed the other dead as: Jack McKenzie, 30; his wife Polly, 28; her stillborn child; and their sons, Jackie, 4; Dickie Joe, 2; Johnny, William, 1; James Powell, about 22; Mrs. Grace Blanton, 50; Frank Artist, about 50; and Clyde May, about 50.

Fire Chief Burris Hensley said one of the occupants apparently made an attempt to put out the fire with an extinguisher "but it was moving too quickly. Those people just didn't have a chance."

New Phase to Open in Case

By H. L. JONES
Canadian Press Staff Writer
VICTORIA (CP)—One of the most celebrated cases in the history of the B.C. courts opens a new phase here Monday when former lands and forests minister Robert E. Sommers launches an appeal against his conviction and five-year sentence for bribery and conspiracy.

Like the record six-month trial of Sommers and others which ended at the Vancouver assizes last November, the appeal will be complex. It will revolve around technical points of law and the actions and decisions of the trial judge, Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson.

Appearing along with the former Social Credit cabinet minister is his convicted co-conspirator, Vancouver timber executive H. W. Gray, and his companies, Pacific Coast Services Ltd. and Evergreen Lumber Sales.

Gray drew a five-year sentence and his companies were fined $15,250 and $4,000 respectively.

COMPLEX LEGAL ARGUMENT. Special crown prosecutor Victor Dryer, who conducted the prosecution at the lengthy trial, will argue before the appeal court that Sommers' sentence should have been five years on conspiracy alone and that sentences on this and the bribery counts should have been concurrent.

The 48-year-old Sommers, who was minister from 1952 until his resignation when the case broke in 1956, drew consecutive one-year terms on each of five charges accepting bribes while in office and a one-year concurrent term on a conspiracy charge.

Gray was sentenced to eight one-year terms on each of five charges of accepting bribes while in office and a one-year concurrent term on a conspiracy charge.

Legal authorities here say that if the appeal is conducted only on points of law, it probably won't last more than a week. But if some counsel go into the trial evidence, it could last much longer.

U.S. to Ask for Bases in Canada

By DAVE MCINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP) — The United States apparently plans to ask Canada for the use of bases in this country for a new American jet interceptor now under development.

U.S. Air Secretary James H. Douglas and Gen. Thomas White, chief of the U.S. Air Force, have said in testimony before the U.S. Senate armed services committee that the new 2,000-miles-per-hour interceptor, the F-108, will "police" the DEW line in the Canadian Arctic.

As well as being able to detect hostile bombers, the DEW line can control the operations of interceptors. However, at present, there are no interceptor squadrons based in the Canadian Arctic or sub-Arctic.

Douglas and White also said—a transcript of their testimony has just become available here—that the F-108 will be able "to go out and obtain intelligence on an enemy attack and to begin destruction of attacking aircraft long before they reach our borders or the population centres of Canada."

The secretary and chief of staff said there is a "clear and pressing military requirement" for the twin-engine, two-man F-108. The F-108 and the Bomarc anti-aircraft missile would "complement each other."

Leave $1 Million Fortune to Charity

LACOLLE, Que. (CP) — This town of 1,500 on the United States border has learned that two spinster sisters who lived out their span here in apparent genteel poverty left a fortune of more than $1,000,000 to charity. Martha Phoebe Moore died Feb. 24, 1957, at 87. She left an estate of about $925,000. Her sister Anna died 31 years earlier, leaving $250,000.

2 Dead, Children Missing in Fire

By MARVEN MOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer
MONTREAL (CP) — At least two people were burned to death and two more—both small children—were missing following a fire that gutted a three storey apartment building early today.

Another 125 persons fled into 30° above temperatures as fire sped through the brick building shortly after midnight.

Cause of the blaze was unknown, but firemen said they believe it started on the second floor.

WANT ACTION DISMISSED
PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Owners of the seized Liberian ship Fleet Tank filed a motion in court Friday for dismissal of the libel action against the ship by the crew. Fleet Operators Limited, Incorporated of Monrovia, Liberia, said in the motion that any default in payment of wages was not wilful or deliberate but resulted from the inability of the owners "to obtain the necessary cash." The 32 crew members claimed $40,000 in back pay.

Legislatures Discuss Two Potent Topics

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Liquor and natural gas were among the more explosive ingredients Friday as Canada's provincial legislatures began building up steam.

A swing by the Prairie provinces to free liquor laws may be completed this year by the Saskatchewan government's proposed action to add other types of outlets to the present men's beer parlors.

Notice was given in the Saskatchewan House that Provincial Treasurer C. M. Fines will introduce bills Tuesday concerning licensing of liquor outlets, subject to local option.

Mixed drinking outlets including beverage rooms, hotel and restaurant dining rooms and restaurant cocktail rooms, are expected.

DISCUSS WILLS
The New Brunswick government introduced a bill in the legislature which would give provincial courts limited power to alter wills to provide for the maintenance of widows or dependents.

Object of the bill is to prevent a testator from disinheriting his wife and children.

British Columbia's legislature was told the province has the most rapidly-growing school enrollment in Canada, the highest proportion of men teachers of any province, the highest proportion of teachers with university degrees and the highest average teacher salary.

In the Ontario legislature the natural gas stock feud continued. Liberal and CCF speakers demanded the Progressive Conservative government call former mines minister Philip Kelly before the House and order a judicial inquiry into a gas pipeline stock issue.

The move followed a government report Thursday which showed that a $15,000,000 profit was made by 40-odd persons—among them three cabinet ministers who have since resigned—on Northern Ontario Natural Gas stock purchased at cut-rate prices.

Iron Claims On Island To Be Developed

VANCOUVER (CP) — Pacific Quarries Ltd. of Vancouver and Cascade Lode Mines Ltd. Friday announced an agreement under which Pacific Quarries will develop and bring to production Cascade Lode iron claims at Zeballos on Vancouver Island.

H. A. Thielman, managing-director of Cascade Lode, said Friday night arrangements have been made with Japanese interests to take the ore.

The companies are hopeful of developing more than 300,000 tons altogether at the property. Mr. Thielman said Japan "will take any volume we can produce" because the grade is "over 60 per cent iron."

The claims lie seven miles from Zeballos and within two miles of a logging road which provides access to water.

Pacific Quarries will bear all development and production costs of the new project.

Cascade Lode will receive 25 cents net per long ton of iron ore shipped and 15 per cent of net smelter returns from any gold shipments, it was announced. Cascade Lode has gold and copper properties in the area.

Tragic Mixup Blamed For Deaths of Crew

VANCOUVER (CP) — The only survivor among seven men aboard the tug Henry Foss says everyone aboard thought someone else was sending an SOS as the vessel was sinking in storm-lashed Strait of Georgia.

Edward Hanson, 41-year-old chief engineer who was rescued Friday after clinging to an overturned lifeboat for four hours, told of the mixup.

He said that in the 15 minutes after the tug apparently struck an underwater object, there was so much confusion that no one sent a distress signal.

As a result, no word of the tug's plight was sent until the B.C. ferry Cy Peck spotted the overturned lifeboat four hours later. By that time six of the seven men were dead.

The vessel went down in a 70-mile-an-hour southeasterly gale near Saltspring Island, 35 miles north of Victoria.

SURVIVOR WAS TOUGHEST

Capt. V. E. Miller, relief skipper who left the tug at Port Angeles, Wash., before it sailed for Ladysmith on Vancouver Island, described Hanson as the toughest member of the crew.

"He was the toughest man on board — and that's what counts out there," Capt. Miller said.

News of the sinking caused an anxious two hours for Mrs. Hanson.

Overwaita Store Moves Next Week

First stage in a reshuffle of business premises, involving five Penticton firms, begins this weekend when the Overwaita Co. grocery store starts moving from its present quarters in the McPherson Block on Main Street, to larger store three blocks south.

Located in the McPherson Block for the past 20 years, the Overwaita store will be closed for moving operations the first part of next week, Charles Perry, manager, says. He expects the store will open for business in the new quarters Thursday morning.

Now located at 317 Main Street, Overwaita is moving to 625 Main where it will have more floor space and a large parking area.

Coinciding with the opening in the new location, the store will put a new policy of strictly cash and two free deliveries daily into effect.

The present staff of three may also be augmented.

Overwaita's departure from the McPherson Block will be followed by a general remodeling of the one-storey buildings with a complete renovation of the front scheduled. Don Lange's Credit Jewellers, presently occupying the centre of these business premises in the building, will move into the northern premises vacated by Overwaita.

Grant King Men's Wear will then expand occupying two-thirds of the building.

The premises which are to be Overwaita's new location were formerly occupied by Sather's Custom Flooring. This firm is moving into quarters made available by Lehman's Transfer.

TALK OF THE VALLEY

PARDON FROM MASSEY

A Westbank man, Harry Edwin Derickson, has been granted a pardon from Governor-General Vincent Massey, revoking his conviction in September of 1957, on a charge of causing a public mischief. Mr. Derickson's lawyer is now in contact with the attorney-general's department in Victoria for remission of the $200 fine and costs which Derickson had paid. The public mischief charge, as well as one for impaired driving, was laid after another Westbank man, Albert Wilson, testified that Derickson had been the driver of a pickup truck when it rolled over on a curve near Westbank. Derickson denied this, maintaining that he had been asleep when the mishap occurred and that Wilson had taken the truck, belonging to Derickson, with his knowledge. Wilson's testimony was supported by his wife and sister and two independent witnesses. All were forgotten until last October when Wilson, who said he had suddenly "got religion," admitted that Derickson's original testimony had been correct.

Wilson was then charged with taking an auto without the owner's consent and perjury. He was fined $25 and $300 respectively on the two charges with an additional seven days in jail for perjury.

Oliver's Board of Trade has stumbled across what may prove a landmark in the financing of small groups. During Thursday night's hot debate on the post office issue, the chair ruled that only those who had paid their dues could vote. Board of Trade Joins Post Office Dispute

OLIVER — Frequent gavel-pounding marked the Oliver Board of Trade's decision this week to back a petition asking relocation of a proposed new post office.

The Thursday night meeting saw the Board of Trade swing behind Oliver's retail merchants, who seek to have the post office built on vacant property opposite Elks' Hall, one block off Main Street.

The resolution was proposed by S. B. Hirtle who pointed out that tourists, business men and residents alike would benefit from the more central location.

Other speakers supported Mr. Hirtle in his contention, adding that, although they fully realized that the growth of the village would be to the south, the proposed site would for many years be adjacent to the main business section.

Victor Fairweather and Joe Topping, in supporting the site originally chosen — opposite the Roman Catholic Church — felt that by having the Post Office there it would have the advantage of being centrally located in the years to come, would form part of a proposed civic centre and would pose no parking problems.

It was added also that a change in plans would conceivably delay indefinitely construction of the building.

Chester Hutton denied this, he said that he had been told by Federal officials that the building would be built where they were told where the people wanted it.

On a vote being taken, Mr. Hirtle's resolution was adopted. A copy will be sent to David Pugh, M.P., for his information.

The problem of parking within the business section arose out of earlier discussion. As a result of a resolution presented by Joe Schmidt, a committee was appointed to look into the feasibility of acquiring vacant land adjacent to the business area for use as parking lots.

This committee consists of Victor Fairweather, Alex Gough and R. C. MacFadden.

The meeting also went on record as supporting the Kelowna Board of Trade's protest of the adverse publicity caused by Dr. D. A. Clark's references to water contamination in the Okanagan.

Westbank Man Gets Pardon On Conviction

Mr. Derickson's lawyer is now in contact with the attorney-general's department in Victoria for remission of the $200 fine and costs which Derickson had paid.

The public mischief charge, as well as one for impaired driving, was laid after another Westbank man, Albert Wilson, testified that Derickson had been the driver of a pickup truck when it rolled over on a curve near Westbank. Derickson denied this, maintaining that he had been asleep when the mishap occurred and that Wilson had taken the truck, belonging to Derickson, with his knowledge. Wilson's testimony was supported by his wife and sister, and two independent witnesses.

GOT RELIGION

All was forgotten until last October when Wilson, who said he had suddenly "got religion," admitted that Derickson's original testimony had been correct.

Wilson was then charged with taking an auto without the owner's consent and perjury. He was fined $25 and $300 respectively on the two charges with an additional seven days in jail for perjury.

Celebration Will Mark Anniversaries

A double celebration this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clark, 142 Abbott Street, will mark the birthday of Mrs. Clark and the wedding anniversary of their neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Edward Waite of 249 Van Horne Street, who were married 64 years ago yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Waite, whose wedding took place at the home of the bride, the former Agnes Clark, on February 13, 1895, in Hamilton, Ontario, left shortly following their marriage for Neepawa, Manitoba, where they resided for many years.

In 1915 they came to British Columbia, and lived in Chilliwack and Burnaby prior to coming to Penticton in 1942. They lived here at intervals during the past 17 years; returning to the Okanagan Valley last year to make their home with their daughter, Mrs. L. M. Lester, and their unmarried son Cecil.

Mrs. Waite, who was born on Manitoulin Island, Ontario, is 83, and Mr. Waite, born at Smithville, Ontario, is now 89. They are parents of ten children: Mrs. W. P. Toombs, White Rock; Mrs. H. J. Bass, Tacoma, Washington; Arthur Waite, Nelson; Mrs. J. Hoover, Rutland; Mrs. Donald Smith, Redwood City, California; their daughter and son here and three sons who have died.

They have 23 grandchildren, 26 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild born on January 25, 1959.

Canada's principal source of foreign exchange flows from exports of pulp and paper.

Socred Auxiliary Invited to Attend Parliament

OLIVER — The Oliver Social Credit Women's Auxiliary held a meeting at the home of Mrs. I. Keller Monday evening. Mrs. J. Teare, secretary, read an invitation to all members to attend the opening of Parliament in Victoria.

During the winter months, the group has held a series of successful card parties, with one planned for Feb. 27 at the J. Teare home. Everyone is welcome. Proceeds from projects of the auxiliary are used for delegates' expenses to the women's convention and to the Provincial Social Credit League.

The group enjoys a large membership, holding meetings the first Monday evening in each month at members' homes.

Women Object to Modern Car Designs

OTTAWA (CP)—Power? Long, low lines? Phooey, says a group of Quebec women who have a long list of gripes about modern car designs.

There's been some contention that women are the persuaders behind the car buyers. And there is the occasional claim that manufacturers make the car women want.

But members of the Sherbrooke-Lennoxville branch of the Canadian Association of Consumers say "NO" to all this and recommend that the national organization, and the government, do something about the car design trend.

OBJECTIONS LISTED In the CAC monthly bulletin, the Quebec group lists its objections about car design.

Cars are so long they are less manoeuvrable and harder to park, and they don't fit into ordinary garages, the group said. The new cars also were so low slung that they were difficult to get in and out of, and once an average-height adult was inside his—or her — head touched the roof.

The "big cars" are only four-passenger cars after all, the women contend, because the drive shaft is housed in a big bump in the middle of the car floor and only a small child can comfortably use the middle of the seat.

As for safety, "car manufacturers are ignoring their responsibilities for providing the maximum amount of protection for the individual," the group wrote.

TOO MUCH POWER "Too much emphasis is placed on power. It is superfluous to install a 325-horsepower engine in a car when our speed limits are 50 miles per hour and our roads are not built for speeds any higher."

The women argued that the powerful engine is an invitation to high speeds and therefore a major contribution to highway deaths.

They said a car occupant's protection is greatly diminished by a lighter, thinner chassis and more glass.

If such features as collapsible steering wheels and padded dashes are worthwhile, why not make them standard equipment, the group asked.

The CAC branch said concerted action at top levels could "materially reduce wastage of human life."

The group's major recommendation was for direct government action "to protect the individual from the whims of car designers, and unrealistic buyers."

Packers Hot in 6-4 Win

KELOWNA (CP) — Paced by Harry (Hurricane) Smith, Kelowna Packers defeated second-place Vernon Canadians 6-4 Friday night in a high-geared Okanagan Senior Hockey League game that kept the 1,657 fans on edge all the way.

Smith scored a hat trick, his first in two years with the Packers. Greg Jablonski, Jim Middleton and Clare Wakshinski added one apiece for Kelowna.

Art Hart, George Agar, Sherman Blair and Jim Moro each scored singles for Vernon.

Vernon jumped into a 3-0 first period lead before the Packers replied. In the second period, Packers scored three unanswered goals and out-scored Vernon 2-1 in the final.

Hart scooped the puck through goalie Dave Gatherum's pads on a scramble at 10:27 for the first Vernon marker, and 24 seconds later Blair scored. Agar made it 3-0, walking the puck out from the boards on a behind-the-net pass from Blair, and slipping it in the corner.

Jablonski snapped in Russ Kowalchuk's rebound for Packers' first goal at 18:40.

In the second period, Wakshinski went all the way on a breakaway at 1:01. Middleton scored on a scramble play at 7:08 and Smith started working on his hat trick with a rifle shot from point at 11:13 while Gerry Goyer, kept Vernon's Tom Stecyk occupied.

Smith took Moe Young's pass at 3:57 and rifled a low shot to the corner of the net from an angle. Moro staged a beautiful play, checking his stride to fool defenceman Wayne North and backhanding the puck along the ice for Vernon's last goal at 6:18.

Smith completed his hat trick and the game scoring at 11:43, setting the goal up himself, moving it in to Wakshinski, then waiting in to rifle a low shot home.

Fine Showing By Local Figure Skaters

Raymond Troyer placed second and Bruce Barrett third in the novice men's singles event.

Pert little Jacqueline Hay teamed with two different partners to walk off with first place awards. In the Bronze Dance it was Jacqueline and Vernon Hart taking first and Jacquie, skating with Raymond Troyer, in the novice mixed pair again took first place.

Skating against much larger centers and being from a comparatively young club this is a fine performance in this kind of competition.

BOWSFIELD HONORARY DINNER WILL TAKE PLACE TONIGHT

Tonight's the night!

The big Athlete of the Year Banquet, sponsored by the Penticton Baseball Club, to honor Ted Bowsfield, will take place at the Hotel Prince Charles, at 6:15 tonight.

The first of its kind, it is hoped that the banquet will become an annual affair honoring in a similar way the outstanding local athlete each year.

Glenn Winter, president of the baseball club, and master of ceremonies at the banquet, said today, that all the effort and planning that went into the dinner really paid off, and that it is shaping up as one of the outstanding social events of the year.

Mr. Winter thanked the members of the committee who have worked so diligently to organize the event.

One look at the list of speakers who will attend should assure the banquet of success, as it reads like a page out of Who's Who in Sport.

Attending will be Hec McDonald, former president and manager of the Penticton Baseball Club, Annis Stukus, sports writer for the Vancouver Sun and former coach of the B.C. Lions, Herb Capozzi, general manager of the B.C. Lions, and Cedric Tallis, general manager of the Vancouver Mounties.

In attendance also will be a number of local dignitaries, including Alderman Clem Bird and Perley McPherson.

NHL SCORERS MOVE

Litz Likes it on Top

By GERALD FREEMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Last fall when this National Hockey League season was still in short pants, Edward C. J. Litz, a member of the Chicago Black Hawks, got a taste of what it's like to head up the list of National Hockey League scorers.

Now that 50-odd games have separated the men from the boys in the individual scoring race, the big right winger is going back for a second helping.

Litz never did have top spot all to himself. He shared it with teammate Ted Sloan, Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard of Montreal Canadiens, and finally Andy Bathgate of New York Rangers, the present leader, who hasn't dropped below second since he first got a taste of first back in November.

For a while, during the dismal days of December, Litzberger was squeezed right out of the NHL Big Seven and had to work a slump out of his system. But

THE CHIEFS' GERRY PRINCE picks up the puck and starts for the Vees' goal with Lyle Willey and Dave Gordichuk in hot pursuit in last night's Okanagan Senior Hockey League game, which saw the Chiefs grab a close 5-4 decision. Prince didn't score on this occasion, but he did rap in two goals to contribute mightily to the Vees' downfall.

The game featured the appearance of two local boys in the Vees' green and white strip, Larry Lund and Bob Parker. Parker made his presence worthwhile when he picked up an assist in the second period and both boys looked pretty good their first time in senior company.

Penticton Wins Bantam Hockey Playoff Series

The Penticton Bantam All-stars racked up another top-sided win over the Summerland Bantams, in the second of a two game total goals, playoff series last night, in Summerland, clubbing the Summerland boys 9-1.

This gave Penticton the series 2-4 and the right to meet the winner of the Kelowna, Vernon series.

Scorers for Penticton were Morley Hays, Terry Wilson, Wayne Emsland and Morley Morgan with two each, Tom Wells picking up a single. Patrick Pleice scored Summerland's only goal.

There were fourteen penalties called, with Penticton collecting eleven.

Freightways Even Series Win 61-58

Penticton Freightways scored an upset win over the powerful Kelowna Royalites, in the second game of a two out of three, semi-final Okanagan senior men's basketball series here, last night, when they outscored Kelowna 61-58.

Freightways took an early five point lead but by the half way mark Royalites were out in front 34-31.

Kelowna stayed in front and were holding a one point advantage at three-quarter time.

Penticton then poured on the coal and jumped into a nine point lead, that was whittled down in the last two minutes when Kelowna's Radies scored two quick baskets.

Royalites were unable to add anything to this, however, and Freightways coasted to the win.

This evened the series at 1-1 and the deciding game will be played in Kelowna next Thursday night.

High man for the night was Ted Bowsfield with 25 points, Fred Christiansen was Freightways second high man with 12. For Kelowna it was Bob Radies with 20 points and Bud Englesby 18.

Freightways who played badly for most of the season, were a different team last night and with a few breaks might quite easily eliminate Royalites, who have been B.C. semi-finalists for the last two years.

Macs Meet With More Opposition

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Canada's world hockey representatives met their toughest opposition in their Scandinavian exhibition series Friday night.

The Belleville team defeated Sweden's Tre Kronor squad 4-2 but they seemed to lack the deft shooting ability that had given them overwhelming victories against five other teams in this country and Norway.

The worst they have done so far in the warm-up schedule is to be held to a 3-3 tie in Paisley, Scotland. Jean Paul Lamirande, Al Dewsbury, Dennis Boucher and Barton Bradley fired a goal apiece. The score at the end of the first period was 2-0 for Belleville but Tre Kronor erased the advantage in knotting the count 2-2 by the end of the second frame.

FRIDAY 13TH JINXES VEES

Veas Edged Out In 5-4 Loss To Chiefs

By STAN KELLY

Friday the 13th proved too much for the Luckless Vees when they dropped a toughie to the Kamloops Chiefs, before 800 fans here, last night.

After leading three times, the Vees lost out, when Kamloops rammed in two goals in the last ten minutes of play.

Gerry Prince led the scoring for the Chiefs with two, Fred Sasakamoose, Larry Berg, and Gordon Matheson scoring singles, for the Vees it was Bob Chorley, Don Slater, Dave Gordichuk and Lyle Willey.

Kamloops outshot the Vees 36-26 and took five of the nine penalties called.

Both teams went scoreless in the first period, Kamloops led 2-1 at the end of the second and went on to win when each team picked up three in the final stanza.

Penticton opened the scoring at 9:35 of the second period, on a goal by Bob Chorley, in which Bob Parker of Summerland Juniors, who was in strip for the Vees, assisted. Pat Coburn also picked up an assist on the goal.

The Chiefs tied it up on a goal by Prince and then took the lead when, Sasakamoose grabbed the puck on a sloppy clearance by Bob Chorley, stepped around Pat Coburn and slapped it into the net from close in.

The Vees scored twice in the first two minutes of the final period, the first goal going to Slater assisted by Coburn and Kraiger and the second to Gordichuk and Willey.

The Chiefs took a dim view of being behind and thirty seconds later, Larry Berg slipped one past Don Moog to knot the count at 3-3.

Then at the five minute mark, Lyle Willey took a pass from Tick Beatty on a two on one break, to put the Vees out in front once more.

Kamloops Gerry Prince, knocking his second goal of the night, set things up for Gordon Matheson who added the coupe de grace at the 17 minute mark, to give the Chiefs a 5-4 win.

SHOTS FROM THE POINT

On last night's performance, the Vees are going to have to do more rushing of the opposing forwards and stop mucking about in front of their own net with the puck, if they figure to better the Kelowna Packers in the playoffs.

The Packers, speed merchants though they are showed that they can be put off by a rushing defence in their last appearance on Penticton ice, when the Vees trimmed them 4-2, using just those tactics.

It was good to see the two local boys in the Vees strip last night. Larry Lund and Bob Parker didn't set the world on fire but they did well for their first time in senior company. Parker picked up an assist and looked good doing it, when he dug the puck out of the corner and put it right on Chorley's stick for a really pretty goal. The bake sale put on by the Vees wives was a big success with the girls taking in over a $100.

Ryff Back on Scene Beats Andrade

NEW YORK (AP) — Frankie Ryff has a new lease on boxing life after his impressive victory Friday night over Cisco Andrade.

This is the second chance for the 26-year-old lightweight from the Bronx. He is determined to make the most of it.

Discouraged by his tendency to cut around the eyes and upset by managerial troubles, he quit the ring to drive a taxi last summer. Steered into a connection with Barney Ross, the former lightweight and welterweight champion, Ryff has found new hope.

"Barney taught me to throw my left hook with more power," Ryff said. His room was crowded with well wishers after his unanimous 10-round decision over Andrade, the 7-to-6 favorite.

FANCY DANCING
Andrade kept driving ahead most of the night while Ryff danced away, side-stepped and then leaped in with quick jabs, hooks and even right-hand leads. When he made Andrade back up, the 135-pounder from Compton, Calif., was in trouble.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Veteran Lloyd Mangrum says he plans to quit the professional golf tour. A Texas open official says Lloyd won't be missed.

Dancing legs and more determination to meet an attack with a sharp flurry of his own did the job for Ryff. He looked more like the fighter of his early days than the uninspired plodder of a year ago. Ryff was cut around the eyes as usual although they were not deep cuts. He also bled from the nose.

Judge Artie Aidala scored it 8-2 for Ryff, who weighed 137½ pounds. Referee Ruby Goldstein saw it 6-4 and judge Bill Forst 5-4-1.

Pearson Sees Gov't Ending Death Penalty

By KEN KELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Pearson sees indications that the government is doing away with the death penalty and says Parliament — and not the cabinet — must make the decision whether to move toward abolition.

He raised the matter as the Commons Friday debated justice department estimates for the current fiscal year, remarking that since the Progressive Conservatives came to power in June, 1957, the cabinet committed to life imprisonment 17 of the 21 death sentences that came before it for review and that only four of the 21 had carried jury recommendations for mercy.

Justice Minister Fulton replied that Mr. Pearson seemed to suggest the cabinet "should not continue to exercise the prerogative of mercy." It should be realized that "this being a prerogative, each individual case is dealt on its merits."

However, Mr. Fulton refused to be drawn into discussion of the principle of capital punishment on grounds it was out of order at this time. Mr. Pearson did not press it further.

OPPOSITION CRUSHED

They brought on a two-hour debate that ended when Progressive Conservative supporters outvoted them 156 to 41 on the question of giving the power to sit while the House is in session to the external affairs committee.

The Commons also heard announcements by Northern Affairs Minister Hamilton of a big rush in applications for oil and gas exploration permits in the Arctic and by Trade Minister Churchill that Canada has agreed to a U.S. proposal for an international conference on lead and zinc.

During consideration of the justice department estimates, Mr. Fulton described emergency measures to relieve dangerous overcrowding in the St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary near Montreal and the New Westminister, B.C., prison.

Cargo Could Revolutionize Heating in U.K.

LONDON (Reuters) — A ship steamed toward Britain today carrying an experiment that could revolutionize cooking and heating in Britain.

Loaded aboard the 3,000-ton tanker Methane Pioneer is natural (methane) gas, reduced to 1-600th its normal volume by being maintained in a liquid state at the fantastically low temperature of 258 degrees below zero.

The Methane Pioneer is an apt name for a ship carrying a cargo more dangerous to handle than dynamite.

American scientists found an answer to the problem by liquefying methane by refrigeration, which means keeping it at 258 degrees below zero. No pressure is needed to keep it liquid.

Central heating is a rarity in this island beset by cold, damp winters. Britain's state-run gas council and American interests involved are sharing the cost of bringing the first natural gas cargo. Britain's share is estimated at £1,500,000.

Britain has a shortage of good gas-making coal and long has been seeking other sources of supply. The United States and Canada have vast quantities of methane—the natural gas given off by oil—and much of it is going to waste.

If the experiment is a success the British gas council hopes to get government backing to build a fleet of methane tankers. Fourteen 30,000-ton tankers could bring in the gas equivalent of 28,000,000 tons of coal—present total consumption—and cost coal altogether for gas-making.

ANSWER TO WASTAGE
Scientists have long striven for an answer to the question of what to do with the natural gas liberated when taken from the ground.

Oil Companies Rush to Stake Arctic Claims

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian and American oil companies are rushing to stake exploration claims over a potentially vast new source of oil and gas—the Arctic.

The rush has been on since Jan. 22 at 9 a.m. MST Friday companies had applied for exploration permits covering 50,000,000 acres of the Queen Elizabeth Islands. By late afternoon, bids were in for 60,000,000 acres. The total potential in the Arctic archipelago is estimated at 300,000,000 acres.

PERMITS WITHHELD
Northern Affairs Minister Alvin Hamilton said in a Commons statement Friday that permits are being withheld pending revision of regulations.

But the applications are being recorded on a first-come, first-served basis. The rush has been building up for 10 years.

Gordon Robertson, deputy northern affairs minister, said the revisions of the regulations are technical and are designed to fit the nature of the area.

Oil Companies Rush to Stake Arctic Claims

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian and American oil companies are rushing to stake exploration claims over a potentially vast new source of oil and gas—the Arctic.

The rush has been on since Jan. 22 at 9 a.m. MST Friday companies had applied for exploration permits covering 50,000,000 acres of the Queen Elizabeth Islands. By late afternoon, bids were in for 60,000,000 acres. The total potential in the Arctic archipelago is estimated at 300,000,000 acres.

PERMITS WITHHELD
Northern Affairs Minister Alvin Hamilton said in a Commons statement Friday that permits are being withheld pending revision of regulations.

But the applications are being recorded on a first-come, first-served basis. The rush has been building up for 10 years.

Gordon Robertson, deputy northern affairs minister, said the revisions of the regulations are technical and are designed to fit the nature of the area.

TED AND VALENTINE CHECK MOTHER'S STYLE

Peter Stands Amid Okanagan Hills

By BILL STAVDAL
On the wall behind the altar of St. Peter's Anglican Church at Naramata, the robed figure pulling in his nets is obviously St. Peter.

But the background is puzzling. The hills across the blue Sea of Galilee are suspiciously familiar. "You're right," smiles artist Mrs. Fred Ritchie. "That's the Giant's Head Mountain in the mural."

The blend of biblical and local in the oil-painted, life-size mural is the work of a Naramata housewife who has been drawing and painting since she was a child.

Named Percival when she was born—"I was supposed to have been a boy"—Percy Ritchie early showed her talent.

Encouraged by her stockbroker father, who also showed a flair for art, she studied through school and in Paris during the 'thirties.

Four years in the School of Arts at the Montreal Art Gallery polished her work, under the guidance of Canadian artists Edwin Holgate and Will Ogilvie.

Then the war broke out, Percy became a Red Cross worker, met her future husband and forgot about art as a career.

But she never stopped painting. Fred Ritchie, a sales executive with Dominion Textile Company, carried on with his job for years, but always dreamed of leaving the hustle of business for the idyllic life of a fruit grower.

Three years ago the Ritchies made the jump. They bought 12 acres of apple and soft fruit trees overlooking Naramata, and became part of the community.

"We've worked harder since then than ever before," says Mrs. Ritchie. Oil paintings of the Okanagan Valley and lake hang on the walls of their home to prove she found time now and then to relax.

A year ago it was suggested by someone in the congregation of St. Peter's—no one remembers who—that the church needed redecorating.

"I suggested that a mural would be nice," recalls Percy, "but I didn't think it would be myself who did it."

Last fall she showed a sketch to the Right Reverend Philip R. Beattie, Bishop of Kootenay.

"All he said was, 'He looks too pious,'" she reflects. "Actually I was seeking a kindly expression."

"I think the congregation should face a pleasant expression if they have to look at it all through the service."

Drawing and painting the figure of St. Peter took her three and a half days, working almost steadily. When it was finished, brown Okanagan hills lifted above the Sea of Galilee, which might be said to resemble Lake Okanagan.

St. Peter stands overlooking the congregation, drawing in his green nets from the water.

The pine trees are missing from Giant's Head Mountain behind Peter, but the scene is quite familiar.

OPERATIONAL CENTRE AT HOTEL PRINCE CHARLES

'Prince Charles' Great Asset to Community

By VIC MISUTKA
Eight years ago, a certain new industry was planning to locate in Penticton. There was much difficulty. It almost seemed at times that local residents perhaps didn't want this establishment in their midst and weren't going to allow city land to be sold for the site.

On the other hand, Kelowna was doing all in its power to get the promoters to start their new venture in that city. "We don't see how anyone in their right mind would want to locate in Penticton," said the Peach City's good neighbors to the north.

But, Marshall A. Loughheed and his sons, W. A. "Al" and T. E. "Evans" Loughheed, managed to infuse the city fathers and most of the general public with some of their enthusiasm and to convince them that their industry would be "a great thing for Penticton."

As for locating in Kelowna, Al Loughheed recalls:

"Penticton was the place for us. This city is like the hub of a wheel with all the major roads in this area radiating from it. We saw that Penticton couldn't help but have an excellent future."

Today the Loughheeds' new venture, the completely modern Prince Charles Hotel which Penticton almost didn't want, is one of the city's largest industries and a major factor in its expanding convention and tourist business, helping to spread the fame of the Peach City's attractions throughout the continent.

AMAZING GROWTH
The success of this major industry and its benefit to the community, is shown in its growth.

When the Prince Charles Hotel opened in 1951, it had 52 rooms. Two years later, the 26 rooms on the third floor were completed. In 1956 a fully automatic elevator was installed, one of the first pieces of such equipment to be put in a hotel. And in the spring of last year, the coffee shop was enlarged, completely remodelled and put on a self-service basis.

Another floor can be added to the hotel with another 26 rooms when the situation warrants.

The hotel building with its various departments and offices, now represents an investment of three-quarters of a million dollars in Penticton's future.

This includes the various hotel operations as well as the quarters for Greyhound Bus Lines divisional headquarters, offices of Canadian Pacific Airlines, and a barber shop, all located in the hotel building.

The hotel operations alone provide employment for a staff that varies between 52 in winter and 72 in summer. Annual payroll amounts to roughly $140,000.

Facilities and services operated and maintained by this small army of workers include 78 comfortable and fully-equipped rooms, each with bath, for persons seeking accommodation; a banquet hall with seating for 250 persons, which can be divided into two smaller halls for meetings; a luxurious dining room which can accommodate 75 diners at one time; the attractively appointed self-service coffee shop where 84 persons at any one time can help themselves to a snack or light meal; a news stand, and a cocktail lounge.

In charge of the food department is Ken Kendrick who came to the Prince Charles from the Grosvenor Hotel in Vancouver and has had extensive experience in food preparation.

Harley McCord is in charge of the hotel's front office and Archie Robb is the manager of the lounge with John Folk as his assistant. Mrs. Pat Smith is relief desk clerk and George Pinske, bellboy.

The laundry department, where the hotel's linen and furnishings are cleaned, is in charge of Mrs. Helen Usselman and Mrs. Anne Kuehlerman.

Others on the permanent staff include Mrs. Annie Grande, housekeeper; Vic Hulley and Nick Panov, maintenance men; Vince Beardsmore, night auditor and his assistant, Arthur Lloyd Jones; Mrs. Evelyn Lambert, secretary; Mrs. Olive Broccoli, pastry cook in charge of the baking department; and Larry Magee, accountant.

Asked if there was any one thing to which the success of the Prince Charles might be attributed, Al Loughheed said it was due to "good service to the public at rates and prices which are moderate but in keeping with quality."

COMPLETE SERVICE
Another factor, certainly, is the completeness of the service. Visitors to Penticton can stay for the night, buy a newspaper, attend a convention and banquet, have a meal, snack or cocktail, mail a letter, buy a bus ticket, have a haircut or shoe-shine, send a telegram or make a flight reservation, all in the same building.

Though not the largest hotel in Penticton, the Prince Charles is probably the largest modern hotel with such complete facilities, in the Interior. As such it has played a major role in expansion of the tourist business and particularly the convention industry.

Not content to rest on their past laurels, the hotel management takes pains to ensure that their establishment continues to be up-to-date in all respects. This past year, the hotel lobby was re-carpeted and retiled, a new floor was laid in the kitchen, and a new Tartan carpet put on the dining room floor.

The Loughheeds are confident this city's visitor industry, their industry's mainstay, will continue to boom.

They anticipate a big upsurge in traffic through Penticton to Alaska now that the northern U.S. possession has become the 49th state. A further boost in travel along Highway 97 through the Okanagan is seen when the Rogers Pass section of the trans-Canada highway is completed. About 60 per cent of the Vancouver-bound traffic will come through Penticton and over the Hope-Princeton rather than going through Kamloops and the Fraser Canyon.

Then, too, completion of the Southern Trans-provincial Highway will mean that B.C. and prairie residents who presently detour through the U.S. to avoid the treacherous Rossland-Cascade highway, will stay in Canada on their trip to and from the coast. Many of them undoubtedly, will also stop in Penticton.

With these various developments in prospect, it may not be too long before another story is being added to the Prince Charles Hotel.

ST. PETER AMID FAMILIAR HILLS

Boy's Town Planned On Hope-Princeton

By R. J. TUNNING
Fourteen miles east of Hope on the Hope-Princeton highway, a group of well known Penticton men are establishing the first boy's institution of its kind in B.C.

Patterned to some degree after the world famous Boys' Town in Nebraska, the project is known as Boys' Town B.C. Unlike its Nebraska counterpart, however, Boys' Town B.C. is non-sectarian and will enroll only boys between 18 and 20 for the first year or two.

The institution is intended to supply schooling, vocational training, protection and guidance to hundreds of homeless youths when the gates are opened, and already the promoters have received many urgent requests for admission.

The site of the undertaking is the old Trilite Ranch, sometimes called the "44 Mile Ranch," near Hope. Most Penticton people will remember it as a large collection of buildings, including a look-out tower, about one-quarter of a mile off the highway on the long, straight stretch of road on this side of Hope. During the last Great War it was used as an internment camp for Japanese Aliens. On it are three mammoth barns, each of superior construction and as high as the average five-story building. There are only three of some two dozen buildings.

STOCK RAISING
The barns and agricultural buildings will be used for stock raising and farming for the education of the boys. Revenue from the crops or herd on the 1000 acre farm will revert to the upkeep of Boys' Town and to wages for the boys. Encouragement is given to the boys to earn and to become self-supporting.

Many other buildings are in the blue-print stage. These include small dormitories, each of which will house six to ten boys and a supervisor. A church will be built from native trees. It will be non-denominational although teaching will be from the Holy Bible. Like Boys' Town, the church will welcome any boy, of any race or creed.

The idea for Boys' Town B.C. was first conceived by two Penticton men in the board room of the Valley View Senior Citizens' Lodge in Penticton on a day in September 1958. They were Cliff Moore and Dave Godkin, the founders of Valley View Lodge and the principals of the New Hope Benevolent Society which is the parent body of the lodge and of Boys' Town. It is a non-profit organization registered under the Societies Act of British Columbia.

Since that day last September these men have never looked back. Within a few weeks the big ranch had been acquired and an office set up at 6743 Kingsway in South Burnaby.

DIRECTS OPERATION
The 32 year old Mr. Moore directs the operation and has already interviewed countless persons from our governmental agencies allied to provincial welfare and youth correctional institutions, has appeared before many audiences and has found time to visit the original Boys' Town in Nebraska from which he brought many ideas. The U.S. Boys' Town loaned Mr. Moore a colored film covering every stage of their organization. This has helped illustrate the work and development that is planned for Boys' Town B.C. The main differences between the two Boys' Towns will be that the B.C. venture will not, in administration or otherwise, embrace any one religious denomination and will try to enroll boys between the ages of 18 and 20 only at the outset, but will include boys as young as 12 as work progresses.

BIRD'S EYE VIEW OF BOYS TOWN

Besides farming and stock-raising the ranch will provide vocational schooling, vocational training and sports. There are worthwhile timber stands on the property and a saw-mill, cold-storage facilities and meat-cutting rooms, machine shops and a blacksmith's shop.

It is hoped that Boys' Town may become self-supporting.

INTEREST IS GREAT
Interest in the project is snowballing beyond any of the expectations of the original backers. In the words of Mr. Godkin, who recently returned from the office in Burnaby: "People everywhere got in touch with us and want to hear about Boys' Town and what we are going to do for the boys. Some are going to help us and some have helped. But it proves that most people really want to help each other."

Financing for the vast project is being done on a debenture basis through the New Hope Benevolent Society and backed by their several real-estate holdings. Some donations have been made and some have already supplied labor or materials. One Burnaby gentleman in the decorating business was employed to paint the Kingsway office. When he found out who he was working for, he rendered his bill "account paid".

Vice-president of the organization is L. B. Boggs, retired Penticton high school principal, and the secretary-treasurer is Dave Godkin, who is also manager of the Valley View Senior Citizens' Lodge.

Enquiries should be mailed or telephoned to their office at 6743 Kingsway, South Burnaby, B.C., where their fast-growing staff will be happy to reply.

Automation Aids Key B.C. Industry

VANCOUVER (CP) — Automation and science are playing a big part in saving the $30,000,000 poultry industry of British Columbia's lower mainland.

Producers today are selling Grade A large eggs for 34 cents a dozen—the same price that put many of them out of business 10 years ago—and showing a profit.

The farm revolution is shared to a lesser degree by the dairy industry.

Poultrymen are using automatic machines to feed birds and in the cleaning and grading of eggs. One man can take care of at least 5,000 birds where two were required formerly.

Science has improved poultry breeding stocks to a high degree by employment of geneticists.

GREATER THAN AGRICULTURE
Pulp and paper production exceeds in value that of wheat plus all other grains.

which has resulted in better birds requiring less feed.

The egg producer who carried between 1,000 and 2,000 birds in 1949 now has flocks of from 10,000 to 15,000. The man with only 5,000 now is considered a small producer.

KEEP DOWN COSTS
Improved feeds, housing and equipment all help in keeping down unit operating cost.

Much the same is true of broiler and turkey production. Producers are raising up to 40,000 fryers at a time and put through five lots a year.

Turkey farmers, aided by improved fast-freezing methods, are able to market their birds at the most economical weight, eliminating the expensive process of holding them for traditional holiday markets.

Although the poultry industry is by no means flourishing, it expects to weather poor markets and be ready to take advantage of better conditions which are expected to develop.

They anticipate a big upsurge in traffic through Penticton to Alaska now that the northern U.S. possession has become the 49th state. A further boost in travel along Highway 97 through the Okanagan is seen when the Rogers Pass section of the trans-Canada highway is completed. About 60 per cent of the Vancouver-bound traffic will come through Penticton and over the Hope-Princeton rather than going through Kamloops and the Fraser Canyon.

Then, too, completion of the Southern Trans-provincial Highway will mean that B.C. and prairie residents who presently detour through the U.S. to avoid the treacherous Rossland-Cascade highway, will stay in Canada on their trip to and from the coast. Many of them undoubtedly, will also stop in Penticton.

With these various developments in prospect, it may not be too long before another story is being added to the Prince Charles Hotel.

Another Opportunity Missed By Penticton Boosters

We hope the members of city council and the board of trade who turned their backs on the opportunity to enter the inter-city discussion on the location of a junior college in the Okanagan had good excuses.

Held in Kelowna under the chairmanship of Mayor Dick Parkinson the meeting was designed to investigate the best location for such a college and to coordinate the efforts of all cities for the good of the Okanagan.

We can understand the partisan feeling that could enter such a discussion, but feel that at such a time the benefits to the Valley as a whole should take precedence. Possibly our thoughts are unjust and the members invited were sick or engaged on more pressing business, but we must confess to feeling disappointment that no official representatives from either council or the board of trade were present to forward whatever viewpoint we had.

Naturally we would like to see such a college located here in Penticton. But this desire should not blind us to the obvious advantages other cities may have. This is not an act of disloyalty to the city in which we live, but rather an acceptance of the facts of life.

Of this we are sure. If any members of the council or the board of trade feel disappointed because present thinking leans towards Vernon; and if they sincerely feel that Penticton would be a better place, they should have been at the Kelowna meeting to state their case.

Washington Processors

The Washington apple industry is turning to processing as a measure of relief of the marketing problems which confront the industry. Judging from the following editorial in the Wenatchee Daily World, Washington growers just as Okanagan growers are going to depend more and more on their processed product.

Discussing the situation as seen in Washington, the Wenatchee paper said: "Apple industry men, constantly seeking new markets for their fruit, have been taking a serious look at processing outlets.

"Processed apples are those that have been dried, canned into applesauce, pressed into juice, or frozen.

"While per capita consumption of fresh apples has dropped spectacularly in the last 50 years, the rise in the use of processed fruit (not apples particularly) has been equally spectacular.

"Fifty years ago, every person in the United States ate an average of 70 pounds of fresh apples each year. Now that per-person consumption is down to 26 pounds.

"During the same period, consumption of canned fruit has increased six times. Canned peaches and pears accounted for the largest part of the increase. But use of canned apples and applesauce went up from half a pound per person to two pounds.

"In more recent years, canned juice and frozen juice consumption have made spectacular gains. Twenty years ago a person could be expected to use 3.8 pounds of canned juice a year. Now that figure is 13 pounds.

"Frozen juice consumption has leaped from less than a pound per person 20 years ago to almost nine pounds today.

"The Washington apple industry has taken less advantage of this processed fruit potential than other sections of the country. This is probably true because Washington growers concentrate on quality fruit, of varieties for the fresh fruit market.

"At any rate, in the last 25 years, only from 8 to 20 per cent of Washington apples have gone into processing outlets. This compares to 31 to 57 per cent for New York, 34 to 62 per cent for Pennsylvania, and from 21 to 34 per cent for the nation as a whole.

"The citrus industry has shown apple men what can be done in increasing consumption of a fruit from juice.

"In 1910 there were 3½ times as many pounds of apples consumed per capita as pounds of citrus fruits. This relationship gradually but steadily changed until consumption of citrus fruit went ahead of apples for the first time. By now, the spread is almost as large in favor of citrus fruits as it was for apples back in 1910.

"This fact was dramatically illustrated here this week by a Sunkist executive. He said citrus' great advances have been made possible because citrus growers control sales of the product, quality standards are maintained, and demand is spiced by a big advertising campaign. He spoke strongly in favor of the citrus marketing agreement, and the fact that growers must control sales in the face of growing super markets.

"In consumption of apple juice, the United States is lagging far behind foreign countries. The U.S. juice consumption figure is 1.2 pounds per capita. Canadians consumed 3.8 pounds, Germans 5.8 pounds, and in Switzerland the per capita consumption is 22.5 pounds.

"In the U.S. only four per cent of juices consumed are apple juices. In Switzerland, the per cent is 95.

"Apple Research Digest published in Yakima reports two obvious ways of increasing the consumption in the U.S. They are: get more people drinking apple juice, and get the people already drinking it to drink more of it.

"The magazine points out that a survey in Connecticut proves that the same thing that is true of fresh apple use is true of juice—namely, that quality must be high.

"The high consumption of apple juice in Switzerland can be attributed mainly to government action encouraging apple juice drinking. It was tied in to a program to drink more apple juice and drink less alcoholic beverages. The movement is encouraged by giving free samples of apple juice to all school children, encouraging families to make fruit juice a family drink, and promoting apple juice use through a big advertising campaign.

"Now nobody in the fruit industry here thinks increased use of processed apples is going to cure all the industry's ills.

"But, just as obviously, it would certainly be a help. It would provide a profitable market for off-grade fruit without tampering with the market for quality apples.

"We can look longingly to the day when during harvest season, culls and C-grades will be loaded out of every ranch into rail cars and trucks and daily transported into centrally located processing plants where this fruit will be profitably turned into applesauce and juice."

LIVING IN CARM

Sir:— I was much impressed with the topic on the radio a few days ago, re-the Carmi-Penticton road, which has been a dream dear to most people's hearts for a good number of years. Being a resident of Carmi for the past thirty-one years, I thought that I might tell the people who seem so interested, a little about the country over here. I might add that my husband came here in 1908, he was then three years old and has lived here ever since.

Carmi is approximately 28 miles, almost due east of Penticton. It lies in a picturesque valley about 3,800 feet above sea level. The west fork of the Kettle River and the Kettle Valley Railway run through here. The railroad was built in 1912. The mountains are quite high and the prettiest of them is to the north-west, the Nipple Mountain and it is 4,400 feet. The King Solomon, to the east, is approximately 4,100. The Carmi radio range station is situated on top of it, a three mile drive straight up the mountain. Beaverdell, which lies to the east of Carmi, a distance of five miles, has a population of approximately 300 people. Carmi's population is 125.

The only industry at Carmi is the Olinger Lumber Co., which employs 44 men. Beaverdell has the Highland Bell Mine with a large payroll. There was also a mine at Carmi which operated from about 1913 to 1919, it reopened again in 1933 and ran about a year. There are also a number of small sawmills. These are privately owned.

Kelowna is the closest shopping centre and has the nearest hospital and doctors. This is a distance of 53 miles. This road was opened in 1932. Rock Creek, in the other direction, is 37 miles, but there is very little there, so one has to go over the Anarchoist Mountain to Osoyoos, another 35 miles or to Grand Forks — 95 miles from Carmi.

We have beautiful scenery, lovely lakes to fish in and the deer are plentiful. As for other animals, such as bears, coyotes, cougars, etc., we have them, too, but not roaming around in the back alleys as some are inclined to think. One lady at Kelowna said to me, "Oh, you are from Carmi. Isn't that where the Indians and wolves are?" I assured her there were no Indians and no wolves, except occasional two-legged ones.

For the ski enthusiasts there are plenty of good skiing hills. We also have plenty of snow most winters and this is one of the snowiest, about four feet of it. The winters get pleasantly cool here, 35 to 40 degrees below zero some winters. We can get hot weather in the summertime.

There are numerous creeks in the district. These are named mostly after people who came here many years ago as prospectors and trappers. There is Dale Creek named after Jim Dale who also named the village of Carmi after his home town, Carmi, Illinois. Then there are Saunier Creek, Trapper Creek, Hall Creek, Wilkinson Creek, Ferroux Creek and Ferroux Mountain and many others.

We have no electricity other than private plants, but hope that in the near future we will have the West Kootenay Power. However, there are a few who have television in their homes and reception is very good. We do not have telephones yet. There are a couple of C.R.P. phones which may be used in an emergency. There is also a telegraph office here and a post office.

Farming here is not too plentiful as the growing season is so short. There is usually a heavy frost in July, so only the hardiest vegetables and flowers can be grown. There are some cattle ranchers in the district, and they do well as there is plenty of range land and grass in abundance.

Let us hope that the road linking us with Penticton will be put through in the very near future. Sincerely, Mrs. L. Ferroux.

Candidates for Heart Attacks

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Don't think that harried business executives are the only persons who suffer heart attacks.

I'll grant that you probably hear and read about more executives, professional men and politicians suffering heart attacks than you do about machinists and shop foremen.

This doesn't mean, however, that coronary thrombosis and other forms of heart disease do not strike persons of lesser public note.

IN PUBLIC EYE
You are more apt to hear about the illness of a businessman because he probably figures more prominently in the news.

As a matter of fact, bartenders and barbers appear to have somewhat more than their proportional share of heart attacks. And this very fact brings up an interesting point.

NOT STRENUOUS

Generally, we think of hard physical labor as a contributing cause of heart trouble. While bartenders and barbers must spend long hours on their feet, their work is not physically strenuous.

On the other hand you might expect farm workers to have a high rate of heart trouble.

Yet, despite the obvious physical strain of their work, these persons as a group probably are about as free of heart trouble as you can get.

NEGROES LESS SUBJECT

As a group, Negroes also have plenty of hard work. But again, they are not as subject to heart attacks as are white persons.

All of which would seem to indicate pretty clearly that heart trouble strikes the fellow who works at a lather or a work bench or stands behind a bar just about as often and as hard as it does the businessman who is worried about his taxes and his competitor's products than anything else.

However, there are a couple of additional points to be considered.

We know that stout persons are more likely to suffer heart trouble than are persons of normal weight or those who are underweight. We know also that the older a person gets the more susceptible he becomes to heart attacks.

Coronary thrombosis, for example, strikes more persons between the ages of 45 and 70 than any other age group.

And since it generally takes quite a few years for a man to become an executive, a political leader, a professional man or a businessman, and since these persons generally add a few extra pounds along the way, they are fairly good candidates for heart attacks. No one, however, is immune.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

N.N.: What are the symptoms of fungus in the blood stream?

Answer: Fungus infections usually attack the skin but may also get into the blood stream. A fungus infection of the blood stream may cause pus and decayed tissue which may, in turn, produce ulcers and abscesses.

EDITOR'S FORUM

ALWAYS A PRESIDENT
(Halifax Chronicle Herald)

There is no time when the United States is without a President. The Constitution provides that the term of the Chief Executive shall end at noon on Jan. 20th; the new president's term starts immediately even though there may be a delay of a few minutes in his taking the oath of office.

SELF APPRAISED
(Gulph Mercury)

We must bring ourselves to an honest self-appraisal, and we shall find that the ill of society while oppressive are not without their cure, provided we are ready to forsake self-indulgence which has led to a citizenry of undisciplined adults. When we discipline ourselves, we shall be in a position to correct our children.

NO BARRIER
(From Regina Leader-Post)

It is unfortunately true that locks only serve to keep honest people out and the lock has yet to be invented that cannot be forced by the clever thief.

MISNOMER
(From Hamilton Spectator)

"Wearing her customary dark glasses, camera-shy Greta Garbo is photographed at a Rome airfield . . ." says a picture caption. Camera-shy, indeed! How many movies did she make?

UNITED KINGDOM OPINION

British-Soviet Talks Hailed

By M. MCINTYRE HOOD
Special London (England)
Correspondent for The Herald

LONDON—A warm glow of satisfaction is the best term that can be used to describe the public reaction to the announcement that Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has accepted an invitation to visit Moscow and talk with Mr. Khrushchev. Newspaper comment is completely one-sided in praise of this bold decision by Mr. Macmillan. There is great faith over here in the value of sitting down at the conference table with one's adversaries, and that is noticeable in the tenor of the reception of the announcement.

There is also a surprising element of satisfaction in the thought, freely expressed, that Mr. Macmillan may have gone contrary to the wishes of John Foster Dulles, who flew over here to see Mr. Macmillan prior to the announcement that the Moscow invitation had been accepted. Some political commentators expressed the idea that Mr. Dulles' mission was to try to dissuade Mr. Macmillan against the trip to Russia. Having been presented with that idea the British people are delighted, to an extraordinary degree, that Mr. Macmillan is going. They accept this as a sign of British independence, and an answer to the oft-repeated charge that Britain is simply a political tool of the United States.

TYPICAL COMMENT

A typical comment on the Macmillan visit to Moscow is that of the Daily Express which says:

"The news that the prime minister and the foreign secretary have been invited to go to Moscow is welcomed by the people. Such a visit will have the warm support of this country. It will give Mr. Macmillan a unique opportunity to speak for Britain and the West. He can speak the language that the Russians understand—the language of trade."

The general note found in other editorial comment is a fervent wish that the visit to Moscow will be a fruitful one.

GOLD POURS IN

General satisfaction is being expressed in the financial world in Britain over the excellent results of the first month's operations since sterling was made more freely convertible into dollars. The view is freely expressed that the month has been a highly satisfactory one.

The actual rise in the country's dollar and gold reserves in the month was $45 million. This included a sum of $30 million which was used to pay an amount owing to the now defunct European Payments Union. This left a net increase in reserves of $15 million which reveals the continued and growing strength of sterling. Unit 2's gold and dollar reserve now stands at $1,111,000,000 and has risen steadily since September, 1957.

DRIVE FOR DOLLARS

Britain's drive for dollar exports is meeting with a remarkable measure of success in the Latin American countries. At a recent meeting of the London Chapter of Commerce, Dr. J. J. Thompson, Dominican Republic Ambassador, pointed out that in the last two years period, British exports to Latin America increased by 45 per cent. In the same period, the U.K. exports to his own country increased by 70 per cent.

"British exporters are not just keeping pace with increased demand in the Republic," he said, "but are taking 'trade away from keen competitors.'"

CANADA'S POSITION

On the other hand, Sir David Eccles, president of the Board of Trade, speaking to the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in London, expressed concern about the large British deficit in trade with Canada. "No other country in the world sells to us so much more than that country buys from us. I ask you to impress on your people in Canada that it goes hard with us to see so much of the money you earn here spent in other markets."

Sir David, however, expressed gratification on the fact that Britain's exports to Canada were up to six per cent in 1958 as compared with 1957, in spite of the large decline in Canada's total imports.

TAILPIECE

A son of E. P. Taylor, the Canadian industrialist and financier, has been working with some success as a free lance in radio and television in London. He is referred to in the Daily Express as Canada's most eligible bachelor, but he is thoroughly in love with his work in the United Kingdom. Mr. Taylor, who has a flat on Baker Street near Hugh Green, another former Canadian radio and TV artist who is now one of the big names in the entertainment world over here, is having a two weeks' holiday with his father in the Bahamas. But he is coming back to his work in London when the holiday is over.

SETTLEMENT ON PRAIRIES BEGAN IN 1811

The first step in the settlement of the Prairie regions was taken as long ago as 1811, for in that year the first band of settlers under the sponsorship of Lord Selkirk left Scotland for Canada. They reached the Red River Valley, near the present city of Winnipeg, the following year. According to the Book of Knowledge the little colony survived the suspicion and later the armed attacks of the North West Company's men and it was indirectly the cause of the Nor' Westers and the Hudson's Bay Company joining together in one great fur-trading combine.

The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul.—Psalms 19:7. If we obey God's law our very nature will conform to that law and it will enlarge and exult in spiritual and physical health.

DIVERSION

A long-suffering diner noted that his coffee had been served without a spoon.

"This coffee," he remarked, "is going to be pretty hot to stir with my finger."

A little later the waiter returned to the table with another cup of coffee.

"Try this one, sir," he said. "It's a bit cooler."
